EDX London IT Notice 007/08 – EDX London GENIUM update

13 May 2008

As a consequence of the recent announcement by NASDAQ OMX, EDX London would like to inform its members about a change to the planned roll-out of GENIUM for derivatives further to IT Notice 003/08 dated 24 January 2008.

The scope for GENIUM will change in order to focus on incorporating elements of NASDAQ's INET for cash market infrastructure and CLICK and SECUR for derivatives around a common message bus.

This will mean that the current OMNet protocol used today to access EDX markets will remain in place, and the mandatory migration to FIX protocol previously announced will not occur. FIX protocol will be introduced for GENIUM at a later date yet to be announced, which will run in parallel to the existing OMNet protocol.

More information.
