EDX London IT Notice 016/09 – Termination of OMnet connections for the EDX London market place.

5 October 2009

EDX London would like to remind its Members that, as outlined at the Technical User Group in July, EDX London members will not be able to trade electronically on the EDX London market place from Monday 30 November 2009 while using an OMnet connection. After 30 November, you will only be able to access the linked exchange environment electronically for clearing purposes until 18 December 2009. Presently, the OMnet solution is provided by our current technology provider, NASDAQ OMX. From Monday 30 November 2009, if you wish to trade electronically on the EDX London Market place, an alternative method of connectivity will be required. If you have any queries relating to this then please contact the Member Services department at EDX London.

Notice will be served shortly on the existing OMnet connections so that these can be terminated in time for December. Once notice has been served, your connection to the EDX London market place will remain in place until 18 December 2009. If you wish to continue to use the connection for any NASDAQ OMX exchange activity after this date, then please contact Member Services at EDX London and we will provide you with details of a NASDAQ OMX contact.
