

Network Service Providers (NSPs)

As an alternative to using our Extranex network, access to the Exchange's services can also be achieved through accredited Network Service Providers (NSPs). NSPs act as carriers of Exchange information and trading services to our end clients who contract with the NSP for provision of network connectivity and sign agreements directly with the Exchange for access to our trading and information services.

Clients using an NSP connection will have individual service enablements set up on our trading and information systems.

The data and trading feeds are in exactly the same format as those received by a direct customer and are subject to the same testing requirements.

End customers employing NSP connectivity will either deploy an accredited ISV solution or develop bespoke interfaces to our feeds.

Why choose an NSP connection?

- Cost effective delivery via your existing network provider
- No intervention, pure Infolect data and direct trading interfaces
- Greater price execution assurance
- Quick set-up
- Consolidated infrastructure
- Fast scalability – ability to add new services quickly

- TradElect – our world class trading system, bringing unprecedented levels of performance, enhanced functionality and new services to our markets.
