MARKET SHARE REPORTER

Understanding your market share

Receive detailed, flexible and timely statistics on trading volumes and associated market share rankings to understand your trading performance and access historical peer analysis to enhance your positioning and demonstrate your credentials as a leader.

Market Share Reporter keeps you up to date with changing trading behaviours and provides you access to explore and compare trusted data by trade type, time series, total value, transactional volume, geographic region and more, across our LSEG venues – London Stock Exchange, Turquoise, and Turquoise Europe, and our APA, TRADEcho.

Market Share Reporter has the flexibility to showcase performance by FTSE index and a bespoke portfolio of securities across customisable date ranges and trading sessions to help you break down and compare your performance from any angle to strengthen your position in the market.

Designed for

- Trading members of London Stock Exchange and Turquoise
- Market makers
- Retail brokers
- Investment banks
- Agency brokers
- Prop firms

Benefits

Get a clear picture of your business's performance – illustrate the precise areas and time periods during which your business is performing at its best.

Strengthen your client marketing – data can be used to support customer meetings and communications, providing you with hard market data to underline your credentials as a leading firm for transacting certain types of business.

Accurate data you can trust – Market Share Reporter captures every trade on LSEG's markets and takes the data direct from the source, ensuring its accuracy and authenticity.

View your market share by any securities and instrument type, portfolio, business classification, FTSE index, market segment, passive and aggressive trading flow.
